From the Governor of Chiang Mai Province

For over 718 years, Chiang Mai has been the center of Lanna culture. Nowadays, it is also an important center of economy, trade and investment in Northern Thailand and also well known as an international tourist destination. Alongside tourism, one of the main revenue sources of the province, Chiang Mai's health care related industry is also showing healthy growth; not only in numbers but also in quality to meet international health service standards.

With readiness of accommodations, a transportation hub for the Greater Mekhong Sub Regions and the city's infrastructures, Chiang Mai is moving forward to be the center of Health Tourism in ASEAN Regions. There are six health care products and services that has been developed, namely medical and dental services, health services, spa, massage and long-term stay, herbal products, traditional Thai and alternative medical services. These health services are available and easy to access in Chiang Mai.

I would like to thank the Office of Commercial Affairs, Chiang Mai, Public Health Provincial Office, Chiang Mai Center for Skill Development and Chiang Mai Health Services Promotion Association for their great effort to jointly promote Chiang Mai health care services by printing Chiang Mai Health Services Directory 2014. I hope that this directory can be useful to users, all health-care businesses and organizations involved.

From Director of the Office of Commercial Affairs, Chiang Mai

With more than 11 private hospitals in town, dental clinics in every corner of the city, a vast variety of spa services, and Thai massage centers that can be found everywhere in town, Chiang Mai has highly potential to develop as a health care city, not only in the north of Thailand, but also in the Greater Mekong Sub Region. Moreover, in terms of medical academy, experienced personnel, and efficient facilities, Chiang Mai is the most suitable city to be Health Hub in the Region

Chiang Mai has a target to provide six services, including medical and dental services, health services, spa, Thai traditional massage, herbal products, traditional Thai and alternative medical services. Each of these categories has its own associations, clubs, or organizations through which its products and services have been developed and offered. The Office of Commercial Affairs Chiang Mai would like to support the accessibility of each health related business by gathering all the names and addresses to make an accurate and useful directory.

Hopefully this “Chiang Mai Health Services Directory 2014” will benefit everyone, including public and private sectors in Chiang Mai as well as in neighboring provinces and countries.

With low medical costs that can never be matched in their home countries, foreign patients are flying to Thailand in droves for medical care and a chance to recover in a relaxed And tropical setting.

Medical Services

Chiang Mai has 14 world class hospitals offering a vast array of medical services at affordable prices.

Twelve of these hospitals are privately owned and two of them are government hospitals. There are approximately 700 medical doctors in the city including specialists in arterial bypass surgery, hip replacements, arthroscopic surgery, radio therapy, acupuncture, balloon dilation, neurologic and cancer treatments.

Dental Services

Chiang Mai has over 300 qualified dentists working at 131 independent dental clinics and in 11 hospitals. The Thailand Ministry of Public Health oversees these institutions and ensure that international standards are maintained.

Dental services are offered at very reasonable rates when compared to international rates. These clinics are equipped with modern equipment and staffed by experienced professionals, creating state of the art dental work. Quality dental services include dental implants, dental crowns, dental bridges, dentures, tooth whitening and aesthetic dentistry.

The largest dental laboratory in South East Asia is located in Chiang Mai and exports dentures and other dental work to Europe as well as servicing the domestic market.

Spa Services

Traditional and modern spa treatments combine perfectly with Lanna culture to create the uniquely Lanna spa experience. The friendly, gentle nature of the people and the understated classic charm of Lanna architecture and décor lend themselves perfectly to the spa environment. Chiang Mai and the surrounding valley boast over 52 spas. Whether one wants to soothe the senses to relieve stress, unwind after a long flight or simply to indulge one's self with a little pampering, spas are increasingly popular destinations for vacations or one day getaways.

Treatments at Thai Lanna spas are based on water, aromatherapy and Ayurvedic systems to achieve good health, healing, complete relaxation and soul rejuvenation. The atmosphere at the spas and the gentle grace of the masseuses make this an experience of a lifetime.

Thai Massage

Traditional Thai massage is well known by people around the world for its therapeutic and relaxing qualities. Thai massage has been a part of the Lanna cultural heritage for many centuries and ancient techniques and recipes used in Thai massage have been passed from generation to generation. Thai Traditional massage is the successful application of Thai wisdom and Eastern therapy. Chiang Mai has over 110 Thai traditional massage, health massage and beauty massage facilities. There are various types of Thai Massage which can be categorized as follows:

- General relaxation, relief from fatigue and nervous tension, stimulation of blood flow and to improve general well-being.
- Curing simple ailments such as pain, stiffness, cramps, lower back pain and to help those who are unable to exercise.
- Foot massage - which has been adapted from Chinese foot reflexology, helps stimulate and improve the health of internal organs.
- Combined with local fragrance and herbs - Lanna people have used herbs and fragrance to enhance the effect of Thai massage since ancient times.
- Special training - some masseuses have been specially trained to massage babies, thus giving them a warm and loving touch.

Health Products

The World Health Organization defines traditional medicine as: “the health practices, approaches, knowledge and beliefs incorporating plant, animal and mineral-based medicines, spiritual therapies, manual techniques and exercises, applied singularly or in combination to treat, diagnose and prevent illnesses or maintain well-being.” Traditional medicine is making a return worldwide and is widely viewed as complementary to modern western medicine.

Herbal medicines have been used in Thailand for centuries, often in conjunction with incantations and massage. These herbal healing traditions have deep roots in Lanna culture. Herbs, algae and mushrooms were gathered in the forests and dispensed by monks and village elders.

Nowadays herbal heat compresses, steam treatments and Thai massages are derived from folklore and ancient midwifery techniques. Natural products and aromatherapy are respected and widely practiced as one of the most popular complementary medicine therapies.

Chiang Mai has long accumulated local knowledge and wisdom about herbal health products. With the richness of ancient wisdom, knowledge and the diversity of herbs, the provinces in Northern Thailand are capable of producing various kinds of herbal health products including supplementary, herbal medicines and herbal cosmetics.

Essential oils from plants and flowers are used by spas as a natural adjunct to massage, inhalation and steam baths; sweet basil is refreshing, lemon oil is stimulating, lemongrass eases indigestion, and the scent of jasmine relaxes the central nervous system.

The herbs found in the mountains and forests of Chiang Mai are good for just about any ailment as well as simply making you feel good.

Lanna Health Wisdom Thai Traditional Medicine

The traditional Lanna belief is that life starts with a soul reborn from a previous life. The soul carries karma from previous lives which determines its character. This Karma is created through good and evil deeds performed in previous lives. Karma is believed to be the cause of most ailments in the body.

The human body contains 32 organs made up of the five elements; earth, water, air, fire and wind. The soul's "Khwan", or vital energy, controls the elements, and the soul's karma determines the well-being of these organs. Imbalances between these elements can also lead to sickness.

The type of sickness is determined by the root cause. The five route causes are human behavior, non-human behavior, internal imbalances between the elements, bad relationships with the external environment and sickness caused by evil karma.

Patients will choose a traditional healer based on what they believe the cause to be. Though patients increasingly look to modern medicine they will still often complement this approach with traditional treatments which aim to balance body and mind.

Traditional healers diagnose illness according to their symptoms to determine the root cause of the sickness. They will also look at the patient's environment and lifestyle to see if there are any less obvious causes. Problems created by bad karma therapies such as meditation and karma work. Various forms of massage address physical problem, usually related to the body's alignment. Imbalances between the elements will be treated with herbal and dietary remedies.

The focus on restoring balance not only addresses the immediate symptoms but also helps to prevent other illnesses. This holistic approach also seeks to avoid adverse side effects by keeping all aspects of the body in balance.
